Bud Goodwin Gets 20 Years As Accomplice In Murder

Two Material Witnesses Are Released Today

Were Charged In Connection With Slaying of Elliott.

NO MOTION IS FILED

Judge Will Set Date for Execution of Dave the Later Part of Week.

BOSTON, Texas, March 12.—(P)—Bud Goodwin, aged 21, was found guilty in the Bowie county circuit court here today as an accomplice in the slaying of Lloyd Elliott, and sentenced to twenty years imprisonment following an instructed verdict by the jury. His brother Dave Goodwin was convicted and sentenced yesterday to die in the electric chair.

State attorney said the verdict charged hog theft against Goodwin, 63, father of the two condemned men and Buck Saunders, a neighbor involved in a hog theft which the state contends resulted in Elliott's death.

Mrs. Dave Goodwin and Jennie Morgan, held as material witnesses, were released from jail. No motion for a new trial or an appeal has been made. The judge has not set the execution date, but announced he would do that the later part of this week.

Former Hope Man Succumbs at Mena

S. H. Battle Loses His Life, After Long Illness.

S. H. Battle, aged 54, former resident of this city, died at his home at Mena last night after a long illness. Mr. Battle was a brother of Joe Battle of Fulton who recently was drowned in Red river.

Mr. Battle was born at Enmet, and lived at Belevins for more than twelve years. Later he moved to Hope and lived here for nearly two years.

The body will arrive in this city tonight, and funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 o'clock at the home of his sister, Mrs. S. L. Barry. Burial will be in Rose Hill cemetery. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. S. H. Battle, of Mena, one son, and one sister, Mrs. Bracy of Hope.

Goodwin Convicted of Murder Charge

Death Penalty Returned For Killer of Lloyd Elliott.

TEXARKANA, March 12.—After being out one hour and 30 minutes, the jury in the case of Dave Goodwin, aged 40, charged with killing Lloyd Elliott, of De Kalb 10 days ago, returned a verdict of guilty at 7:30 last night and fixed the penalty at death in the electric chair. If the penalty is carried out Goodwin will be the second white man legally executed in Bowie county since the Civil war.

Bud Goodwin, brother of Dave, under indictment as an accomplice, testified Dave had killed Elliott near their home hearing Elliott was about to make trouble about a hog of Elliott's which they had butchered. Bud said Dave then "got him to help carry Elliott's body to the river and throw it in."

Following Bud Goodwin's testimony Dave Goodwin changed his plea of "not guilty" to self-defense, and taking the stand, testified Elliott had made a movement as if to draw a weapon when he shot him twice killing him instantly. He said he first started to surrender, but changed his mind.

Falls To Death As He Pays Tribute To Taft

NEW YORK, March 12.—Andrew Kuzniak, a porter in the Equitable Trust Company's building, was killed Tuesday when he leaned too far off the parapet of the second floor to untie the flag, half masted in respect to former President Taft.

He dropped into the street and striking the pavement head first, he was killed instantly.

Bulletins

LONDON, March 12.—(A)—The naval experts of the United States, Great Britain and France met at St. James palace today, and tackled the task of trying to find a solution of the grave crisis which exists in the disarmament conference growing out of France's tirage demand. It is expected the entire day will be devoted to analysis of the French figure, involving a claim for a 724,000 ton navy.

BERLIN, March 12.—(A)—The Reichstag today gave their approval of the Young plan by a vote of 270 to 192 and by a rising vote which also approved of the German-American agreement of the reparation payment to the United States.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(A)—The senate today passed the first deficiency bill carrying $173,000,000 to meet emergency government expenses including $100,000,000 for the Ford Board and then turned to consideration of the tariff bill.

LITTLE ROCK, March 12.—(A)—Two suits were appealed to the Supreme court today from Conway and Polk circuit courts by the Arkansas Power & Light company against judgment of $7,500 to J. B. Cummins and $10,000 to Harold Nuckolls, for injuries received in a collision with street cars at Little Rock.

Paisley Leaves for Little Rock

To Assume Stewardship of State Hospital There This Week.

D. L. Paisley, former superintendent of Hope schools and president of the Hempstead County Board of Education, and Mrs. Paisley, are leaving the city today for Little Rock, where Mr. Paisley this week becomes steward of the State Hospital for Nervous Diseases.

The Paisleys will be located at 208 North Monroe street, Little Rock, where they are at home to their many Hope friends. Among the events this week celebrating Mr. Paisley's completion of 14 years of public service in this community, have been programs at the high school, where the departing superintendent was tendered a handsome radio by the faculty, and at the negro schools, whose faculties presented him with an engraved watch.

Curtis Cannon To Run for Lt. Gov.

Publisher of Morning News Enters State Campaign.

Curtis Cannon, Hempstead county representative in the last legislature, and publisher of the Hope Morning News, today announced his candidacy for lieutenant governor. In a front-page announcement, signed by Mr. Cannon, the News says:

"After a thorough study of the political situation in Arkansas today, I have decided to become a candidate for lieutenant governor, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary election, August 12."

"This decision was made only after considering from all angles the campaign necessary for election, the duties of the office and the possible opposition to my candidacy."

"I have had more than 1,000 letters from persons in every section of the state asking me to become a candidate, so that I might be in a better position to carry on the fight for honest, economical government that I started in the last legislature."

"I have personally visited nearly every county in a preliminary survey of the situation and I know that I can win. The people are roused over conditions and are determined to elect men in whom they have confidence and who are not afraid to speak out in defense of common honesty and the rights of the common people."

"I must run an economical race, because I am financing my campaign without binding myself to any person or corporation, and most of the money I spend will come out of my own pocket."

"My formal announcement will be released for state papers of Monday and in it I will set forth the platform upon which my candidacy will be submitted to the voters."

Camden C. of C. In Annual Meet

Barbecue and Member- ship Meeting Will Be Held March 18.

CAMDEN, March 12.—(A)—The annual barbecue and membership meeting of the Camden Chapter of Commerce will be held Tuesday night, March 18, at the chamber banquet hall. The entire membership will be guests of the association.

Following the barbecue the annual membership and financial drive will be started according to Luther Elliott, secretary. The budget has been placed at $15,000 and 44 members voluntarily have renewed their pledges. The fiscal year of the organization ended February 28.

A report of the year's work will be made by officers and plans for the coming year will be outlined.

Members of the Board of Directors have gone on record against "long-winded speakers" and the program will consist of short talks by members of the local organization.

Six thousand young cherry trees has been sent to the Australian national botanic gardens as a gift by Prince Takamatsu of Japan.

Lou Tellegen and Fourth Wife

Matrimony has beckoned Lou Tellegen, noted actor, a fourth time, and here you see him with his new bride, Eve Sasanova, who has been his leading woman in vudeville playlets for two years. They were married at Miss Casanova's home in Asbury Park, N. J. Tellegen has been the husband of the Countess Jeanne de Broucher of France, then Geraldine Farrar, the opera star, and most recently Nina Romano, motion picture actress, whose marriage with him was terminated in 1929.

Confession Made In Quattlebaum Case

Over 400 Bales of Cotton Destroyed Fire Breaks Out Again Today At A Dock Cot- ton Warehouse.

NEW ORLEANS, March 12.—(A)—Between four and five hundred bales of cotton were destroyed in an early morning blaze which broke out in the section of a dock board cotton warehouse at Wallace street. Firemen who fought the blaze prevented the fire from destroying one section by closing down the partition doors.

The fire today caused police to begin an investigation of three river-front blazes within the last three weeks, and which they believe was of an incendiary origin. The first fire occurred on Charbonnet wharf, destroying it and the burning of the steamship Seattie and which also caused the death of six persons. Late yesterday a fire of undetermined origin broke out on the Mandeville ward, burning the structure and catching the steamship Munaniars afire and causing the loss of approximately $2,000,000.

Plane Will Show Here Visiting Day

Shreveporters To Fly Here for Experiment Farm Program.

Shreveport will send an airplane to Hope to participate in Visiting day at the State Experiment Farm Friday. It was learned today.

Hope Chamber of Commerce received a telegram this morning from L. E. Blair, of Shreveport airport saying that he would fly here with Pilot Mockeram Krause, and would be stationed at the Hope landing field all day. The Shreveport flyers will arrive here early Friday morning.

All details of the Spring Visiting day program at the Experiment Farm have been completed by George W. Ware, assistant director in charge. A good-sized attendance is expected. A dozen farm production and marketing experts are on the program to speak or conduct demonstrations for visiting farmers, while the home demonstration departments of Hempstead and neighboring counties will entertain farmers' wives.

Soy Bean Hay Is Best Dairy Feed, Woodley Believes

One Dollar's Worth of Hay Means $2.70 in Butterfat.

CELEBRATE MONDAY

Missouri Pacific Sending Soy Bean Exhibit Train Here.

Soy Bean hay, which will be observed in Hempstead county next Monday, is destined to mean much to the dairy development work in this section of the state.

The farmers of this section will have an opportunity to secure much valuable information on the growing of this important crop as well as secure soy beans for planting as wholesale prices.

W. H. Woodley, dairy specialist for the University of Arkansas, in discussing this important event, has the following to say regarding the value of soy hay as a feed for dairy cows: "A dollar expended in growing a good legume hay and the hay converted into butterfat should return around $2.70, according to estimates (Continued On Page Three)"

Hempstead Man Gets Publicity

F. P. Holt Featured In Ar- ticle, Entitled, "Two Cows Yield $642."

F. P. Holt, Route 4, Hope, Ark., is featured in an article, entitled, "Two Cows Yield $642," in the March issue of Capper's Farmer, a national farm magazine published at Topeka, Kan., by Senator Arthur Capper.

In this article, the author quotes from records made by Mr. Holt, showing a total of $642.15 made by selling milk and milk products. This splendid profit was made from only two cows. According to the author, the milk and milk products used in Mr. Holt's home will almost offset the cost of feed. With the exception of a small amount of grain, such as wheat bran and cottonseed meal, the feed was all grown on Mr. Holt's farm. The two cows made Mr. Holt more money than 10 or more cows make some other people.

Bridge Work Is Nearing Finish

Highway Will Be Open March 18, According To Engineer.

CAMDEN, Ark., March 12.—Construction work on the bridges and structures across the Ouachita river bottoms on the Camden-North highway is practically completed, according to L. R. Plimmings, of Camden, district highway engineer. The floor work has been finished and the hand rails are now being poured.

When this work is completed and the gravel contract, which is to be let by the highway commission, March 18, is fulfilled, the highway will be opened. The road will shorten the distance to Little Rock and other points. It will also be above high-water the entire year and will give Camden the first all-year route heading north.

Liquor Case To Supreme Court

To Determine Whether A Purchaser of Liquor Is Guilty.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(A)—The department of justice carried to the Supreme court today a test case to determine whether a purchaser of intoxicating liquor is guilty of conspiracy.

The appeal was the result of a decision rendered by federal judge Morton, of Boston, in which he held that the purchase of liquor was not a crime.

The government has a pending case involving conspiracy between the purchaser and the fellow who transports liquor. The department said in view of diversity of opinion of various judges was the result of the appeal.

The new trial involves James E. Farrer, held by Judge Morton as not guilty of a crime in the purchase of liquor.

Testimony Given Against Walker

Hempstead Woman Dies At Hospital

Mrs. Kate Harlow, aged 75, died early last night at a hospital here. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Jerome Stark and other relatives.

She made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Stark, who live just outside the city in Foster addition.

Henry Asks Peace in Ward Politics

Disclaims Any Attack, But Hoped to Settle Controversy.

Following his statement in yesterday's Star regarding the alderman's campaign in Ward Two, Dr. J. A. Henry told The Star today:

"My statement was not designed as an attack upon any person, church or organization, but it was issued merely to clear up the discussion that has followed the election."

"I made a frank and sincere statement of certain facts which entered into the campaign in Ward Two, not with the idea of stirring up a controversy, but hoping to stop one. As far as I personally am concerned, I was defeated, but only by a few votes, and am a good loser."

Mena To Vote On Water Project

$40,000 Bond Issue For Financing Will Be Presented.

MENA, Ark., March 12.—Mena residents today will express their approval or disapproval of a proposed enlargement and improvement program on the municipal waterworks system when they cast their ballots on a $40,000 bond issue to finance the project.

The issue already has been approved by the city council and the waterworks commission, and if carried will pay for all necessary construction that has been planned for the local system.

Arrangements have been made, in the event the bonds are voted for, the earnings of the water system to be used to pay the interest and principal on them. This will be possible, officials say, since the annual statement of the municipal plant showed a net earning of $3,556.21.

Plans call for the laying of more than four miles of new water mains, which will be used in sections of the city not hitherto served by the system, but in which the property owners have been paying taxes for the maintenance of the system.

The improvements also call for the drilling of an additional well, installation of a new pump and several minor projects.

Oldest Member of Legislature Dies

W. L. Lookadoo, Aged 71, Falls Dead In Amity Bank.

AMITY, March 12.—Representative W. J. Lookadoo, aged 71, of Hot Spring county, oldest member of the 1929 legislature, fell dead in the bank here Tuesday afternoon, while attempting to wind up affairs of his brother who died here two months ago. Heart trouble was said to have caused the death of both of the men.

Representative Lookadoo lived at Point Cedar. He was a farmer and never had been active in politics before his election to the legislature two years ago. He was 69 at the time of his election and was said to have been the oldest member of the legislature.

Mr. Lookadoo is survived by two sons, Joe of Hot Springs and Tom of Point Cedar, a daughter Mrs. Henry Small of Hot Springs, and one brother, J. K. Lookadoo.

Clark County Contests To Be Held March 22

ARCADEPHIA, March 12.—The Clark county Athletic and Literary Association will hold its annual field day and school contests here March 22, it was announced today by A. S. Turner, president, and J. O. Kelly, secretary.

The literary program will be held in the forenoon, beginning at 9. The track meet will be held on Williams field at Ouachita College, beginning at 1:30.

Says Walker Was In Greenville the Day After Murder

Appeared Wearing Blood- Stained Clothing, and Asked for License.

HE ADMITS TROUBLE Shows Newspaper Story of Marked Tree Mur- der To Groomwell

HARRISBURG, March 12.—(A)—Testimony that Willie Walker, a salesman, charged with the slaying of Mrs. Lena Waugh Campbell Walker, appeared in Greenville, Miss., bloodstained clothing the day after the mutilated body of Mrs. Walker was found near Marked Tree, and admitted he was mixed up in trouble in Arkansas, was offered by the state in the trial of Walker on a murder charge today.

Ray Groomwell, Greenville, Miss., automobile salesman, told the jury that Walker came to Greenville, December 12 and asked for Mississippi license for his car, giving as reason that he was mixed up in some trouble at Marked Tree. Walker showed him a newspaper story of the Marked Tree murder, and told that was the middle he was mixed up in. Groomwell testified that the Mississippi license Walker sent a suit of clothes, which were bloodstained to a cleaner. Walker told him, Groomwell declared, that he had picked up a man who had been shot during liquor raid, and blood had spattered on his coat.

Two Lose Lives In $100,000 Fire

White Woman and Aged Negro Servant Burned To Death.

CANTON, Miss., March 12.—(A)—Miss Amie Harter, aged 60, and her 90-year-old negro servant, Martha Cheatham, burned to death today in a disastrous fire which destroyed the Boggs mercantile building, a two-story structure and the Polio hotel, a three-story building.

The loss was estimated by the owners at $100,000.

Hospital Drive to Start On Tuesday

Annual Campaign Raises Money for Charity Pa- tients—$2,000 Asked.

The annual campaign for memberships in the Hope and Hempstead County Hospital association will begin next Tuesday, March 18, it was announced today.

The annual drive is made in March of each year. In 1927 the association raised on voluntary subscription a total of $4,000; in 1928, a total of $2,000; and last year, $1,700. This year's goal is set at not less than $2,000.

Money raised in the annual campaign is used to defray the expense of caring for charity patients. It is the boast of Julia Chester hospital, which is operated by the association, that no patient is ever turned away from its doors for lack of money to pay his or her medical bill, although everyone who is financially able is expected to do so.

The hospital property is in good shape, although charity demands make public subscriptions increasingly important. Hospital equipment is valued around $8,000 with no indebtedness; and through its building committee chairman, the association has a clear title to a plot of land on South Main street measuring 300 by 400 feet, at 10th street, known as the Hobb's property.

The hospital itself is governed by a board of seven women, who serve for a term of three years each, two or three automatically retiring each year, with their successors elected by the membership of the association. Miss Jane Hudson is the superintendent in charge.

The officials of Hope and Hempstead County Hospital association are: C. W. Wellman, president; E. S. Greening and L. Carter Johnson, vice presidents; and Syd McMath, secretary-treasurer.

The Price That Was Paid

To understand our American heritage it is necessary to understand the price at which the comforts of the present were bought. Our ancestors paid for modern America in the coin of suffering and long endurance, the last we can do is make an effort to understand the exact nature of that payment.

The Journal of the National Education Association for March quotes some extracts from the diary of a woman who went to Oregon by covered wagon upward of 80 years ago. As a record of the hardships of pioneer days it is invaluable. A few paragraphs are given here, dated Nov. 18 1847:

"My husband is sick. It rains and snows. We start this morning around the falls with our wagon. We have five miles to go. I carry my babe and lead, or rather carry, another through the snow, mud and water almost to my knees. It is the worst road a team could possibly travel. I went ahead with my children and I was afraid to look behind me for fear of seeing the wagons turn over into the mud and water with everything in them.

"My children gave out with cold and fatigue and could not travel, and the boys had to unhitch the oxen and bring them and carry the children on to camp. I was so cold and numb I could not tell by the feeling that I had any feet at all. We started this morning at sunrise and did not get to camp until after dark, and there was not one dry thread on one of us—not even my babe. I had carried my babe and I was so fatigued that I could scarcely speak or step.

"When I got here I found my husband, lying in Welch's wagon, very sick. . . . We had to stay up all night tonight for our wagons are left half-way back. I have not told half we suffered. I am not adequate to the task."

That dairy speaks for itself. That was the sort of price that was paid for the America of today. Can any American read it without vowing to do all he can to be worthy of the pioneers who blaze the trail?

A Pilot's Skill

IF YOU have ever wondered why the air mail pilots are generally considered the aristocrats of the air, listen to this little story:

Pilot Robert P. Hopkins was flying a heavy load of mail to Cleveland recently for National Air Transport. When he reached Cleveland there was a dense fog that hid the airport. He circled around for an hour and a half, looking for a place to land; at last he spied a diminutive park by the lake.

Down he came, to make a perfect landing on a tiny patch of lawn. Neither he nor the plane was injured. But next day they had to take the plane's wings off in order to get it out between the trees.

A man with skill enough to make a safe landing on a small plot of ground like that is a real aviator. No wonder the mail pilots have prestige!

Good News

THE federal circuit court of appeals has reversed the conviction of Mary Ware Dennett, the Brooklyn grandmother who was sentenced to jail for sending through the mails a pamphlet of sex instructions; and the news of that acquittal is the best news our courts have given us in a long time.

The case against Mrs. Dennett was preposterous from start to finish. She wrote the pamphlet for her own sons; it was reprinted by a medical association because the doctors felt it to be the sanest, most sensible bit of work of its kind they had ever seen; various church organizations endorsed it highly. It is hard to see how any intelligent person could have felt that the woman was such a menace to our morals that she should be imprisoned.

Yet she was arrested, tried and convicted. The action of the higher court is a welcome reversal of a perversion of justice.

A Sound Sea

MORE and more this country seems to be falling into the habit of sending business men out as diplomats to represent it abroad.

The best-known case is that of Dwight Morrow, who went to Mexico; the most recent is that of John N. Willys, the automobile magnet who has just been named ambassador to Poland. If Mr. Willys does just half as well as Mr. Morrow, he will amply justify his appointment.

To our mind this proposition of getting diplomats from the ranks of business men is a good one. As a general thing the world of business and industry enlists the best brains in the nation. Why not draw on it for the men who are to represent us overseas?

Why "Coppers" Go Crazy!

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—It is a rather difficult thing to imagine justices of the supreme court actually angry and excited about anything.

It is only a little less hard to conceive of any of them being highly elated, after watching them in all their austere dignity on the bench.

Yet both these almost unthinkable things have come to pass, one is informed on the most reliable authority, since the Senate so furiously debated the fitness of Mr. Hughes to become chief justice.

It appears that among the conservative majority on the court there were those who fumed, trothed and fretted at the senatorial attacks on their economic prejudices, judicial ethics and alleged usurpations. On the other hand, it is said that the more liberal minority of the court—Holmes, Brandeis and Stone—beamed pleasantly whenever the matter was mentioned and gave indication of being quite tickled.

All of which leaks out through the medium of close personal friends. Supreme court justices have them, as do ordinary mortals.

ANOTHER story illustrating the humanness of Mr. Hughes, despite all contentions that he hasn't any, is told by one of his old classmates. It dates back to the early eighties, when Hughes was taking degrees at Brown University in Providence, R. I.

Hughes had studied German until he could talk it like a native of Berlin and he recited Goethe and Schiller by the yard. This accomplishment of the young student was keenly appreciated by a select group which used to gather in an old German beer saloon in Providence and whenever the future chief justice was willing to appear and recite he was given all the beer he wanted.

One night Hughes returned from the saloon to his room on the campus and learned that one of his professors, a man aged and distinguished, had died. It was late, but Hughes turned an empty coal scuttle upside down, sat himself upon it and called for pencil and paper. He then proceeded to write an inspired obituary of the old professor which was later adopted by the university as official.

THE supreme court justices appeared to be about the only ones who did not turn out to look at or listen to Rudy Vallee when the famous crooner made his triumphal entry into the capital. Most important officials—or their wives—were attracted. The enthusiasm in the amorous charge of the Little War Department girl, who waited two hours at the train for the chance to kiss Rudy twice, was duplicated in the jam at the National Press Club, where he played at night for dancing. Tickets for club members gave out three days before the event because it was not considered safe to permit more than 350 persons within the doors and nearly 300 members had to be turned down in a single afternoon. Most of the wives and sweethearts of these last demanded that they resign in protest.

Plunkett, "are fakes." Yet peace societies can say some pretty harsh things about naval parleys.

Now that a cow has been milked while riding in an airplane over St. Louis, we suppose a vogue will be started in that city for plane milk shakes.

And that reminds us of our neighbor, Dense Dorothy, who thinks "Bossy" Gillis is a prize bovine.

VERY NERVOUS AND IN PAIN

Mississippi Lady Says She Felt Stronger, Better After Taking Cardui.

Greenwood, Miss.—Mrs. W. D. Taylor, of 1313 Carrollton Avenue, this city, has written of her use of Cardui as follows:

"About five years ago, I was in ill health. I suffered a great deal of pain in my sides and in the lower part of my body. I was weak and nervous, and at the least noise I felt like I must scream.

"At times I would have to go to bed. My head would ache. It would take me three or four days to get over these spells.

"A friend told me to take Cardui, which I did. After my first bottle, I saw some improvement. When I had taken three bottles, I felt stronger and better than I had in some time. I did not have any more of those bad spells.

"I certainly recommend Cardui." Thousands of other women recommend Cardui, after having found it of valuable assistance to them in building up their health.

Cardui is extracted from medicinal herbs, and contains nothing harmful. Try it in your case. N-505

Figures for 1929 are not yet complete but they show record gains. Assets will be shown over $1,000,000,000 and net earnings for Cities Service Company will show an increase of over 29%. Security holders are now over 600,000.

In the past nineteen years Cities Service has earned net to stock and reserves over $271,000,000 and has paid in cash or the equivalent over $73,700,000 to Preferred stockholders and over $118,000,000 to Common stockholders. Earnings net to stock and reserves for the year ended December 31, 1929 were 5.30 times Preferred stock dividend requirements.

Through 19 years of development, Cities Service Company has shown that the business of supplying essentials of daily life, such as electricity, gas, oil, gasoline, heat, ice and water, is a substantial business with an ever widening future. In view of the present plans and developments within the organization, it is reasonable to assume that its activities will continue to expand and the trend of its earnings continue upward. The demand for the Company's services and products has increased out of all proportion to the increase in population.

Those who have purchased Cities Service Preferred stock know that their money is protected by over $318 in assets for each share of Preferred stock outstanding; and by over $4 in earnings for each $1 needed to pay Preferred dividends. They know that the present yield is about 6 1/4%, payable in monthly dividends; and that if they need to get their money out, there is a ready market for their holdings.

During the Customer Ownership period, any employee of our Company can give you further information as to how you can begin your Cities Service investment program; or if you are already one of the 600,000 owners of Cities Service securities, how you can benefit by taking another step.

What are we here for, you and I,
As the long and wonderful days go by?
Each one stretching to us a hand
Filled with privilege high and grand;
Born of a meaning our lives must be,
God has his purpose in you and me.
We are here to sing of hope and cheer
When the skies are dark and the way seems drear;
We are here to sing of hope and cheer
And true
To the work that lies in our hands to do;
To make for all that is noble and good,
And be true to the bonds of our brotherhood.—Selected.

"Flight" Combines Adventure and Love

"Flight," the Columbia all-talking aviation special next Monday and Tuesday at the New Grand theatre is a mighty drama of adventure in the sky featuring the most sensational air feats ever photographed. A capable cast including Jack Holt and Ralph Graves, one of the screen's favorite teams, Lila Lee, Harold Goodwin, Jimmy De La Cruz and Alan Roscoe handle their roles with skill and artistry.

Loops, tail-spins and Immelman turns provide thrills galore for aviation enthusiasts. Fundamentally an aerial production, a beautiful and poignant love story is told against the background of breathtaking manoeuvres among the clouds.

"Lefty" Phelps, enacted by Ralph Graves, driven by shame to leave college because of a hounded reverse football play, joins the marine aviation service. He wins the sympathy and friendship of "Panama" Williams, the hardboiled Marine sergeant (Jack Holt). Their friendship is disrupted temporarily when they both fall in love with the same girl. This situation leads to an intensely dramatic conclusion.

Battle scenes between the Nicaraguan insurgents and the American marines are tremendously realistic and thrilling. Colorful sequences are laid in the exotic atmosphere of Nicaraguan cabarets where Spanish singers and dancers hold forth.

"Sally" Is Rich In Gorgeous Settings

Beauty and colorful settings, some of them among the most costly ever built for a motion picture, provide the background for Marilyn Miller's first picture, "Sally," which comes to the Saenger theatre today and Thursday.

The picture is made entirely in natural color by the Technicolor process and is described as a dazzling production with gorgeous ballets and dancing ensembles, lilting melodies, comedy and romance.

"Sally," as a stage vehicle, was one of the prettiest musical comedies in history. As a picture its beauty exceeds even that of the stage version for the screen allows a much greater latitude in spectacular settings and effects. On the stage "Sally" was Marilyn Miller's greatest success, on the screen, it has already established her as a star of the first magnitude.

The big cafe scenes, for which an entire restaurant was constructed and equipped, from the front door to the kitchen, the huge Balkan gardens, the spectacular revue scenes, and the exquisite Long Island garden party all are rich and colorful to a degree which is said to be unequalled in the history of the screen.

Miss Miller is surrounded by a splendid cast. Alexander Gray, who sang the leading role in "The Desert Song" the leading role in "The Desert Song" and Pert Kelton, late of Ziegfeld's "Rio Rita," is the ingenue. Joe E. Brown, T. Roy Barnes and Ford Sterling provide much of the comedy. Others in the cast are Maude Turner Gordon, E. J. Ratcliffe, Jack Duff and many more.

"Sally" is a First National and Vitaphone production. The song hits of the original stage version have been augmented by specially written numbers for the picture.

Soy Bean Hay

made by the Blue Valley Institute, based on the cost of growing hay in the Mississippi Valley and the official results obtained from experiments in feeding 624 fairly good cows nothing but legume hay for a year.

"These cows fed exclusively on legume hay, without grain returned an average of 263 pounds of butterfat per cow worth 45 cents per pound, a total of $118.35. It is estimated that the net cost of producing the legume hay that each cow consumed in the year's time was $43.80, which covered all costs such as man and horse labor, seeding, taxes, interest on land and all miscellaneous costs.

$2.70 for $1.00

"When the farm cost of the legume hay, $42.80, is divided into the value of the butterfat which the legume produced, $118.35, it is found that each dollar's worth of hay returned $2.70 worth of butter fat. It pays to grow legumes and it pays to feed them to milking cows.

"Probably the legume that can be grown to the best advantage in all parts of Arkansas is the soy bean. The Arkansas farmer who is milking a few cows should grow at least two tons for each cow he milks, and supplement this hay with some succulent feed for 365 days in the year."

Hope Chamber of Commerce, the Missouri Pacific Lines, and the County Extension Service are co-operating to make soy bean hay an important event for the dairy industry in Hempstead county. Every business man and farmer in this section is urged to attend and help make the day a success.

Thursday, March 13th, we start a special 9-day demonstration of the new Frigidaire HYDRATOR

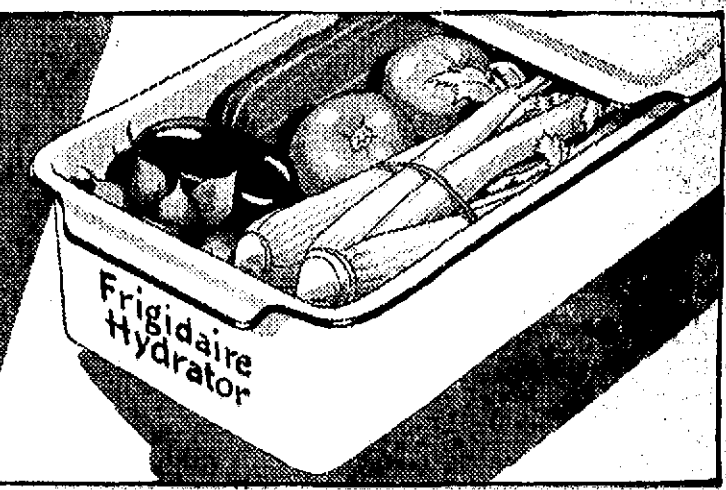

Desserts and salads will be served. New recipe books will be given away. Be sure to attend.

HERE'S your opportunity to find out all about the marvelous new Frigidaire Hydrator.

On Thursday, March 13th, we start a special 9-day demonstration—one of the most interesting ever held in our showroom.

We will show the Hydrator in actual use—just as you would use it in your home. You will see how lettuce is made tender and brittle by the Hydrator's moist reviving cold. You will see how celery and radishes take on added crispness—how tomatoes are improved in texture and flavor.

And that is not all you will see. The latest household cabinets in Porcelain-on-steel will be on display. The famous "Frigidaire Cold Control" will also be demonstrated. You will be shown how this device freezes ice cubes faster—how it permits you to make scores of unusual desserts that require extreme cold.

Will you be our guest?

SPECIAL OFFER
Until Saturday, March 22nd
We are prepared to make a liberal special offer to all who buy Frigidaire during our 9-day demonstration. Let us tell you about this offer. Let us tell you about our easy payment plan. Come in at your first opportunity. We will be open evenings until ten o'clock every day of the demonstration.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by William Braucher

Altizer Bobs Up

PIKE COUNTY, ILLINOIS, bordered on the west by the Mississippi and midway between Quincy and St. Louis, recently was informed that Dave Altizer had announced his candidacy for sheriff. To some the announcement was just another political advertisement, but in the minds of many it revived memories of an American Association baseball star, the homeliest and skinniest man in that AAA circuit. There was a day when Altizer was as popular as Babe Ruth and as intelligent as Art Shires.

American Association records still carry the name of Altizer, a player of the old school, who rates among the best in the national pastime. Dave played shortstop for Minneapolis in 1914 and gobbled 102 chances, which remains a record today. He also reigned as a base thief, stealing 65 times in 1910 and 68 times two years later. He topped A. A. run scoring columns four times. At that, Dave was a star in the majors.

In Days of Cantillon

In his prime Altizer furnished the papers with columns of colorful copy. He played for the late "Pongo" Joe Cantillon, who was quite a point pot in himself. Dave never was known to edge away from a fight. Fact was, he usually was in it. And the times that he came out second best were few.

Stealing third base, made obsolete in these days of the lively ball, used to be a popular pastime in Altizer's day. Once he rode into third spikes flashing wickedly in the sun. Harry Clark, just as rough and every bit as ready, stood in the way to take the throw. There was a cloud of dust—then flying fists filled the air. Believing Dave had deliberately tried to cut him down, Clark let him have it on his bony jaw. Altizer was knocked to the ground and for good measure Clark leaned over to paste him again. Dave was equal to the occasion; however, and lashed out with both spiked feet, gashing Clark's face. They used to do things like that.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

FRANK (SHANTY) HOGAN, 200-pound Giants' catcher, established a new high jump record in San Antonio's St. Anthony Hotel the other day . . . he put his hand on something fuzzy right after a lengthy discussion about tarantulas, those long-legged, fur-covered poisonous spiders. . . . Bob Walsh, Yank rookie and son of the famous Ed Walsh, is the image of his dad . . . his favorite topic of conversation is the great spitball "Big Ed" used to throw. . . . Del Bissonette's pulse soared so high after he smashed the Robins' first home run that Coach Otto Miller ordered him off the field for the day. . . . Boss McCarthy, to learn for himself whether Gabby Hartnett's arm was okay, took second base and requested the Bruin catcher to throw to him. . . . Gabby threw four balls right over the sack . . . the first peg hit McCarthy on the right wrist . . . the second hit him on the left one . . . and the next two pegs whistled by the boss, so fast he didn't even touch them.

He Hated Umpires

BASEBALL was fun for Altizer, but there's no telling what enjoyment he might have got from the game had there been no umpires. He liked them—Yeah. Dave stormed into the Minneapolis clubhouse one afternoon after a rumpus with Umpire Jim Murray. "It's either Murray or me," he raved to Pongo Joe. "I'll never play in another game umpired by him." "Yeah," was Cantillon's mocking answer. "Well, I'll take Murray. He wins a game for us occasionally." That was all of that.

"Redbugs" To Have Good Baseball Club

All Men Back This Year With the Exception of One.

FORDYCE, March 12.—The Fordyce Redbug basketball team placed seventh at the district tournament held at El Dorado last Friday and Saturday. Fordyce won from Honey Grove and Buena Vista and lost to Prescott and Mt. Holly. The two games won were taken by large scores while they lost to Mt. Holly by 25 to 21 and Prescott by 35 to 21.

Prescott won the tournament by defeating El Dorado in the finals. El Dorado defeated Mt. Holly to win second place. Prescott and El Dorado will represent this district in the state tournament to be held at Pine Bluff.

With the close of the basketball season there will be a short interval and then the athletics will turn their attention to track and baseball. The Redbugs are expected to have an unusual strong baseball team as all of last year's men are back with one exception, and the last year they were defeated only by Bauxite, which won the state title. The boys are determined to win the championship this year and thereby give Fordyce the football and baseball championship, both in one year.

Kennie Atkins called at Mr. A. P. Clarke's Sunday night.

Little Dale and Nora Lee Atkins spent Saturday morning with their grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. Lige Bearden and daughter visited relatives at Bowden Saturday night.

Miss Kathleen Roberts visited Miss Hazel Clarke Thursday evening.

Helen Hicks Sells Real Estate In Order to Pay Her Golfing Expenses

PINEHURST, N. C., March 12.—(P) Nineteen-year-old Helen Hicks, the siege gun of women's golf from Hewlett, L. I., has acquired a snappy follow through in a new field.

Between record breaking performances on Carolina links this winter she has blossomed out as a hard working real estate saleswoman. She has done well for a youngster and will accompany a team of American women stars to England this spring on money she has earned.

A self-reliant young person, bent on achieving future golf successes as a corollary to progress in business, Miss Hicks embarked on a commercial career of her own choice.

"My parents were not unwilling," she says, "yet they did not think it necessary for me to take a position. But I have so many golf ambitions that it will take plenty of money to attempt them. That money I want to earn, and then I will be ever so much more satisfied if I do get somewhere in golf."

But Helen already is "somewhere" and figures to go a lot further in a hurry. Last year, she fairly dazzled in Florida winter tournaments, got in some good links in major summer affairs and won the Canadian women's title.

This winter Miss Hicks won the mid-south tournament with ease, taking medal honors with a 79 over the Pine Needles course, one of the longest and snaggiest in the south. Any woman who can break 80 over is playing top notch golf. In match play Helen was not taken beyond the fourteenth green.

In the St. Valentine's tournament at Pinehurst she again was medalist and won the meet in a big field, never

Moonshiners Now Biggest Rum Source-Doran; United States Puts the Buyer On Defense In Test Case

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(AP)—Prohibition's big question—can a buyer of liquor be prosecuted?—may be answered here soon.

The case of the United States of America vs. John Wayland is the medium.

Wayland is charged with purchasing liquor and will be given a jury trial in police court.

Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition, says a conviction would serve the same end for future action against liquor buyers as passage of the much discussed Sheppard bill.

The measure, introduced by Senator Sheppard of Texas, seeks to amend the Volstead law to apply also to liquor buyers.

David A. Hart, assistant United States district attorney, who will prosecute the Wayland case, says it is "without loopholes either as to legal technicalities or evidence."

Hart holds the Volstead law does specifically prescribe punishment for the individual buyer of liquor.

He is prosecuting Wayland under section 6 to title 2 of the act which reads in part: "No one shall manufacture, sell, purchase, transport or prescribe any liquor without first obtaining a permit from the commissioner so to do."

The charge against Wayland reads: "Did then and there unlawfully purchase a certain intoxicating liquor; to wit, whisky."

The penalizing section in the case, Hart explains, is section 29 of the Volstead act which prescribes a penalty of not more than $500. He is prepared to carry the case as far as he can.

Wayland, 27, from Clarendon, Va., when arraigned in police court, was granted a jury trial upon his demand for it and released in $1,000 bail on dual charges of purchasing and possession of liquor.

The moonshiner has become the big shot of bootlegging.

He now is the biggest source of going above 80 and whacking out the course record of 73 in one round.

Helen will be the "baby" of the women's team that will play in England in May, but she should prove a lusty infant. Six consecutive rounds at Pinehurst for which she averaged 77 testify to that.

One of the rounds, on which the long Island girl had a 79, was over the No. 2 championship course, a cruel layout for women players.

supply of illicit liquor, says Dr. James M. Doran, federal prohibition commissioner.

Federal enforcement has changed its objective at regular intervals through the first ten years of the Volstead act. As one source of supply was shut off, another cropped up. The means by which bootleggers obtained their principal supplies, down through the decade of prohibition, are outlined by Dr. Doran as:

Pure whisky; pure alcohol; rum; denatured alcohol; industrial alcohol; toilet water, perfumes and like preparations.

With industrial and denatured alcoholic base, redistillation is used. In order of importance in supplying liquor, Dr. Doran lists the following sources: moonshine, alcohol diversion, and smuggling.

Striking over widely scattered areas of the country during the last year, government officials made some of the biggest hauls in enforcement history. Immense liquor rings were put out of business and comprehensive marketing systems disrupted.

Those results, said Dr. Doran, do not indicate a new policy of concentrating forces at strategic points. They represent, he said, the climax of careful under cover work that began as Three thousand moonshine stills were destroyed last year by government prohibition forces.

Goitre Not a Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

Milwaukee, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research, that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. F12, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The Doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. ## To The Electors of Hempstead:

The law provides that the tax assessor shall attend at the places of holding elections which the collector is required to attend, for the purpose of assessing taxes. By special enactment the collector of Hempstead County is only required to collect taxes at Hope and Washington, and therefore, it is only mandatory upon the assessor to attend these two places. There is nothing in the law, however, that prohibits the assessor from attending each voting precinct as originally practiced, and if you favor me with your vote the old method of assessment will be adopted.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

TID CRIMM Doris Matthews, lady's maid, is murdered Friday night in summerhouse by blow with heavy perfume flask; body, rock-weighted, dumped into lake on estate of millionaire Berkeley.

DETECTIVES: Monte Dundee, guest of Berkeley, and discoverer of body in summerhouse; WICKED butler, formerly in employ of both Mrs. Lambert and Crosby.

MEMBERS OF HOUSEHOLD: Mrs. GEORGE BERKELEY, social climber; George Berkeley, blithering opportunist; his daughter, CLAUDINE, a social secretary; Mrs. LAMBERT, Doris's hostess; sister, GIGI, who unconsciously sprinkled all guests Friday night with perfume from flask presented by Crosby to Mrs. Berkeley and later used as murder weapon; DICK BERKELEY, infatuated with Doris, and now being sought by police as missing; EUGENE ARNOLD, chauffeur, engaged to Doris; WICKED butler, formerly in employ of both Mrs. Lambert and Crosby.

STORY: Girl's body is removed from summerhouse. Strawn informs Berkeley household that murder has been committed and goes with Dundee to question Mrs. Berkeley, who has not arisen. When told her son, Dick, is missing and suspected of crime, she hysterically accuses an unnamed man of murdering both Doris and her son.

"Who do you mean, Mrs. Berkeley? Remember, you are accusing someone of murder!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIV

"WHO do you mean, Mrs. Berkeley?" Captain Strawn asked again, when the hysterical woman had stopped screaming for a moment. "Remember, you are accusing someone of murder!"

"I mean Eugene Arnold, my chauffeur! That's who!" the woman panted, fighting off her husband's restraining hands. "Let me up! I'm going to find my boy! You can't hold me here, making me answer silly questions, when my poor Dick—"

"Mrs. Berkeley, please try to control yourself!" Strawn commanded harshly, for he knew how to deal with hysterics. "I feel absolutely sure that your son is not dead, or we should have found his body where the girl's was hidden." He did not add that, at that very moment, Policeman Collins was diving into the lake on the slim chance that another body lay on its cement bottom.

"And where—did you find—Doris?"

"In the lake, near the summerhouse," Strawn answered. "Your daughter, Georgina, got up a little swimming party early this morning and when she dived in she saw the body."

"Gigi? Oh, my poor baby!" Mrs. Berkeley sobbed, covering her face with plump, beringed fingers. "Where is she? Where's my baby now? She needs her mother—"

"Gigi is all right now, dear. She's with Mrs. Lambert." George Berkeley assured her, taking her hands to hold them tightly in his.

"Before Doris was rolled down the steps of the summerhouse into the lake," Captain Strawn went on, as if he had not been interrupted, "she had been hit upon the head with the crystal flask of perfume which Mr. Seymour Crosby gave you last night."

"Hit on the head with my perfume flask?" Mrs. Berkeley repeated blankly. Then horror twisted her oldish, ugly face. "But this is all too silly! Why should I—? Oh! She had stolen it, and it serves her right if she got killed with it!"

"MRS. BERKELEY," Dundee said gently, as he drew nearer the bed, "didn't I hear you say last night that Doris hated perfume, that it made her ill to smell it?"

"But she could have stolen it when I happened to catch them together," she admitted. "You see, Dick got into the habit of dropping in when I was dressing, and I did suspect it was because he could see Doris. She acted as demure as a shy as you please when I was around, but when I wasn't, goodness knows—Any way, yesterday I had been out shopping and when I came home I had a lot of bundles in the car, so I had Arnold carry them up for me. I sent him on into my bedroom while I stopped to look at the mail on my sitting room desk. Then I heard voices—Doris and Arnold's and the maid's—and I hurried in here, just as Arnold was shouting to Doris: 'If I find out you're double-crossing me with this—this young puppy, I'll kill you both, and I don't mean maybe!' ... That's exactly what he said, Mr. Dundee!" she concluded triumphantly.

"And did you discharge Arnold for his insolence to your son?" Dundee asked quietly.

"No," she admitted reluctantly. "I bawled him out, all right, but—well, you see, with Mr. Crosby coming and the big party tonight—and all, I simply couldn't fire my chauffeur and my maid. There wouldn't have been time to get others—"

"I see."

"I had a heart-to-heart talk with Dick. He adores me, just as my other children do," she went on fatuously. "I made him promise to let Doris strictly alone—"

"Do you know what Arnold had seen, when he came into the room?"

"From what they all said, he saw—he saw Dick kissing Doris," Mrs. Berkeley admitted reluctantly. "Anyway, he told me he was sorry about it all, and promised faithfully not to have anything more to do with the girl. And I know he would have kept the promise if he hadn't drunk a little too much at dinner last night. ... You needn't think, Captain Strawn, that you can arrest my husband for buying bootleg liquor. All our wines and whiskeys are pre-war. I made George buy a big cellarful before prohibition went into effect."

"I'm on the homicide squad, Mrs. Berkeley," Strawn reminded her grimly.

"Oh! Well, then, you can simply arrest Eugene Arnold—if you can find him!" she cried. "Don't you see what happened? My poor Dick did forget his promise, or maybe that deceitful girl led him on! Anyway he met her and Arnold caught them making love in the summerhouse, and he killed Doris and Dick escaped," she summed up triumphantly.

"You'd make a great detective, ma'am," Strawn told her sarcastically. "But there happens to be one or two little points your fine theory don't explain. First: how did the perfume flask get mixed up in the murder? If Doris was simply going out to meet your son, why should she take a stolen bottle of perfume with her? She couldn't very well hide it from him during their love-making—"

He was interrupted by the sound of a door being flung open, followed by quick footsteps in the foyer. Then that door, too, was wrenched open.

"Dad! Mother! What the devil did you send for the police for? Can't a fellow spend a night out of his room without a swarm of detectives being called in to hunt for him?"

Dundee, with a rueful, apologetic glance toward his chief, drew up a chair and laid the pad of notepaper on his knees. With pencil poised to take down the answer, he asked his first question:

"Will you please tell us, Mrs. Berkeley, what happened yesterday to make you so sure that Eugene Arnold is Doris's murderer?"

Now that her son's safety seemed fairly certain, although his disappearance had not been explained, Mrs. Berkeley was far less hysterical. Indeed, as she plunged into her narrative, Dundee had a suspicion that she was rather enjoying it all.

"Well, you see, dear Mr. Dundee," she began, "my poor, darling Dick is so—how shall I say?—susceptible. Not that I think Doris is—or was—anything to get excited about. ... Well, anyway, Dick thought she was awfully pretty and cute and he flirted with her quite a lot. I'm afraid—"

"Pardon! Did Doris encourage your son?"

"We'll, not exactly, at least

Orchard To Be Completed Soon

Farm Crews Push Work On Development Near Horatio.

HORATIO, Ark., March 10—The American Southern Orchard Planting company, local development concern, expects this week to complete the setting out of approximately 400 acres of combination peach, apple and paper shell pecan orchards situated on the highway No. 41, adjoining the city limits of Horatio on the east.

The 400 acres which the company will complete this week is the first unit of a tract of approximately 1200 acres in this vicinity which they expect to develop. The American Southern has about 600 acres of young orchards three miles southwest of DeQueen.

The Horatio tract has been planted in the ratio of 16 pecan trees, 16 apple and 32 peach trees to each acre. A large crew of men has been employed during the past two weeks putting the trees in the ground. Farming operation have started on the land between the tree rows.

Only a small part of the land has years and is expected, that fine crops been under cultivation for the past ten will be taken off the land while the trees are reaching bearing age.

Blue creek, a live stream, fed by affording a good water supply, springs, crosses one corner of the tract. Shipping facilities from the new orchard will be excellent on account of the Kansas City Southern Railway station being only one mile from the orchard.

Menus for Family

BY SISTER MARY

As a satisfying and nourishing article of diet, a properly made stew cannot be surpassed from an economical standpoint. There is no waste in food value for the juices of both meat and vegetables are served with the finished stew.

Fish stews always have been popular as "chowders" in the seaboard states and they should take their place among the lamb, veal and beef stews of the inland housewife. Salted or canned fish can be used if fresh fish is not available.

Firm fleshed rich fish must be used for the stews, but there's a wide variety from which to choose. Cod, haddock, scallops and clams are commonly used although salmon and halibut make delicious and delicately flavored stews. A combination of several fish often is used. The famous Bouillabaisse of the south always is made with a combination of two or more fish.

A fish stew combining fish and vegetables is a nourishing and economical dish that furnishes protein, fat, carbohydrates, minerals and vitamins. The rules for making it are simple and easy to follow.

Haddock Stew

One pound fresh haddock, 3 medium sized onions, 3 cups diced raw potatoes, 2 cups diced carrots, 1-2 cup diced turnips, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 2 cups boiling water, 1 tablespoon butter or bacon fat, 1-2 cups hot milk, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon flour.

Melt three tablespoons butter or drippings in iron kettle. Add onion peels and cut in thin slices. Cook five minutes. Add remaining vegetables and water and bring to the boiling point. Simmer closely covered, for 15 minutes. Add fish, skinned and boned and cut in two-inch cubes. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Add hot milk and seasoning. Soften remaining butter and rub flour into it. When thoroughly blended, add enough hot liquid from the stew to make mixture of a consistency to pour. Push fish and vegetables to one side of kettle and add butter and flour mixture to liquid, stirring carefully. Bring to boiling point and shake kettle to thoroughly mix all ingredients and simmer for five minutes. Serve from a deep platter or shallow vegetable dish.

WHEN you purchase an automobile you are making an investment of a considerable amount of money. It is essential, therefore, that you give careful thought to the best selection and know what you are getting for your automobile dollars.

The first cost is important because it may mean an immediate, satisfactory saving. Of equal importance is the ultimate cost after thousands of miles of service. This ultimate cost is the true measure of automobile value.

THE first cost of the new Ford is unusually low not only because of economies in manufacturing, but because the same principles that inspire these savings are extended to every other step that means greater service to the public. It is easy to see that economies in production would be of little value if they were sacrificed later through high charges for distribution, selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, does business on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company. His discount or commission is twenty-five to fifty per cent lower than that of any other automobile dealer. You gain because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

The difference in selling cost, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, amounts to at least $50 to $75 on each car. This is as important as economies in production in keeping down the price you pay for the new Ford.

THE low ultimate cost of the new Ford is the result of sound design, quality of material and unusual care in manufacturing. Friction and wear are reduced by the accuracy with which each part is made and assembled.

These factors combine to decrease the cost of operation and add months and years to the useful life of the car. The good performance and low yearly depreciation of the new Ford are indicative of the enduring quality built into it at the factory.

SERVICE charges are on the same fair, economical basis as the making and selling of the car and replacement parts are always available at low prices through all Ford dealers. In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost.

Think in terms of tomorrow, therefore, when you purchase an automobile. For tomorrow will reveal its true worth.
